

8,700 Michigan Guards Training Here June 15-29

Approximately 8,700 Michigan National Guards will begin annual training at Camp Grayling June 15. The Michigan troops will be the largest group training here this year.

The artillery, infantry, engineer, aviation, and support services units will conduct primary training exercises for war-time missions. The majority of the troops will spend the first ten days in the field. The troops returning from the field will receive a partial pay. On Tuesday and Wednesday, June 25-26, most troops will have two days off.

At 10 a.m. Friday, June 28, Governor Engler will review the troops in a ceremony open to the public at the Camp Grayling parade field.

Desert Storm Units Welcomed Home

Big July 4th Celebration Will Honor All Veterans

This year's 4th of July celebration is being dedicated to the men and women of Crawford County who participated in Operation Desert Storm and all previous wars fought to protect the freedoms enjoyed by Americans.

The Grayling Youth Booster Club will be sponsoring the event. The day will begin with children's games at 8:30 a.m. at Millikin Field. A parade will start at 12:30, and the day will end with a spectacular fireworks display.

The parade route will be reversed this year. Line-up will be along Peninsular Avenue by the Grayling State Bank and proceed north on Michigan Avenue to the football field on Plum Street.

Members of the 1439th Engineer Detachment, 1440th Engineer Detachment, Detachment Two of the 207th Hospital Evacuation Unit, and the 745th Explosive Ordnance Detachment Disposal unit from Camp Grayling will lead the parade. These units will be symbolic of all Crawford County residents who served in the Persian Gulf War. Other National Guard units will march behind the Desert Storm veterans and various veteran organizations will follow them, ranked by the age of their charters.

When the parade reaches the football field, the entries will circle the football field and then come to rest for a brief ceremony to welcome home the Desert Storm units and to thank all veterans who fought in all previous wars.

Proclamations by the City of Grayling and Crawford County will be presented to the troops by Grayling Youth Booster Club member John Hunter.

"We don't have any idea how many entries will be in the parade," said Booster Club member John Hunter. "We sent out between 80 and 90 letters to organizations inviting them to participate. Up to a week ago we only had eight entries, but last week we got another 12." Hunter said notices were sent to the schools inviting children to ride their decorated bikes in the parade.

Anyone wishing to participate in the 4th of July Parade can do so by contacting either John Hunter or Tom Coors.

Yvonne Szkotnicki (Stephan) is asking all women veterans of the Army, Navy WAVES, Marines, Coast Guard, and Air Force to participate as a group in the 4th of July Parade. If interested, please contact Szkotnicki at 348-9806.

Children's games and sporting activities will begin at 8:30 a.m. at Millikin Field on North Down River Road. These games will continue until noon. The fun will continue at City Park at 3 p.m. with more games. The kid's fishing contest runs from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. and the Dixieland Band will entertain from 7 to 9 p.m. The City Park concession stand will be open from 11 a.m. through the fireworks.

The fireworks will be displayed over the Grayling Country Club on Thursday night unless rain forces postponement to Friday, July 5.

Bobenmoyer, Dosch Win School Board Positions

Bernadine Dosch and Keith Bobenmoyer won four-year positions on the Crawford AuSable School Board at the Monday, June 10 annual school election. Voter turnout was low, with only 987 residents casting a ballot.

Bobenmoyer captured the most votes with 577 and Dosch followed with 276, narrowly beating James Kolka who received 258 votes.

The following is a summary of the election results by precinct:

	#1	#2	#3	Total
Gregg Adelman	43	3	4	50
Keith J. Bobenmoyer	509	47	21	577
Bernadine A. Dosch	237	15	15	267
Lola E. Hartig	132	19	11	162
Mark F. Jurkovich	213	14	5	232
James M. Kolka	218	26	14	258
Pauline F. Petrosky	199	14	10	223
Richard J. Phillips	51	5	4	60
Randy Leo Smock	50	12	2	64

Precinct #1 includes Grayling Township, the city of Grayling, and a part of Beaver Creek Township. Precinct #2 includes all of Frederic and Maple Forest townships, and precinct

#3 includes Lovells Township.

The new board will appoint someone at their July 8 organizational meeting to fill their remaining vacancy created when Mark Hartman resigned. The appointee will serve on the board for one year. The last two years of Hartman's term will be filled at the 1992 annual school election. Persons interested in being considered for Hartman's position can pick up an application at the School Board Office at 403 Michigan Avenue.

State Woes May Cut Into Crawford County's Budget

By Irene Pettyjohn

Crawford County Commissioners, already faced with a tight budget, received more bad news from County Treasurer Joseph Wakeley at their Wednesday, June 5 meeting when Wakeley informed them the county had received only half of the state's quarterly revenue sharing payment—$17,814.40 instead of the anticipated $35,628.80.

Wakeley said the other half of the payment could be delayed or it could be lost to the county altogether.

"It looks like Lansing's going to wait until every department runs out of money before they do anything about the budget," he said.

Wakeley told commissioners the county received its full February payment, but speculated that as state coffers empty there will be more delays and finally painful cutbacks. He said he has already been notified that 100% of the August 31 revenue sharing payment is going to be held until September 16, 1991. Michigan's fiscal budget begins October 1.

Commissioner Robert Smock suggested Wakeley call Lansing to discern whether the additional $17,814.40 has been delayed or lost and if the funds are coming, when the county can expect the remaining payment.

Wakeley said his office did not receive any advance warning that part of May's revenue sharing payment was going to be held back.

"I'm concerned that the legislature's inaction is all going to settle on the shoulders of local school districts and governments as they try to balance their budgets," he said.

In addition to delays in the state's revenue sharing payments, Wakeley said the county also received a $10,629 reduction in its Swamp Tax payment from the DNR last December.

COMMUNITY SWIMMING POOL

The Grayling Recreation Authority (GRA) purchased the Pine Knoll swimming pool from Larry Gust on April 13. The purchase was made with the understanding that the Department of Military Affairs (DMA) will lease them the property that houses the pool and bath house. The $3,750 purchase price included the pool, bath house, fence, underground plumbing and wiring and various other pool related items.

Elizabeth Wieland, county clerk and GRA board member, told commissioners the DMA gave "first right of refusal" to the Camp Grayling Off-

County Museum Opens With New Exhibits

The Crawford County Historical Museum is now open regularly for the season. It will be open every day except Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and it is hoped to have it open on Sunday if enough volunteers can be found.

Bob Ruddy, curator, has been spending a lot of his time this winter adding new exhibits and changing some old ones around. The fire house is a great addition to the museum with the two old fire engines on exhibit.

Memberships are available — family $15 and you can visit often; seniors, $5, and you can visit often too. Business memberships are $25 and it is hoped that many Crawford County businesses will support the museum which is a nice tourist attraction.

Gypsy Moth Here To Stay

BY IRENE PETTYJOHN

Crawford County residents do not have to travel far in any direction to witness gypsy moth defoliation. Along I-75, in Maple Forest Township, aspen trees are stripped bare and look like they never budded or leafed out. The same scenario can be seen along Military Road south to Seven Mile Road.

In an effort to control this defoliation, Crawford County contracted to have 1056 acres sprayed with the biological insecticide, Bacillus thuringiensis (B.t.) this spring. The spraying began at 6 a.m. Tuesday, May 28, and was finished by 10:30 a.m.

According to a news release from Senator John Pridnia, Crawford County was among seven northern Michigan counties granted federal assistance to combat gypsy moth infestation. Crawford County gypsy moth coordinator Howard Taylor said the $6,420 grant will help pay the $8,184 bill for May's aerial spraying.

B.t. is considered safe because it kills only caterpillars and does not affect honeybees or natural enemies of the gypsy moth. It stays on the leaves and is active from 5 to 10 days, depending on the weather. Unfortunately it rained during the evening of the 28th, cutting short the benefit from the county's first spraying effort.

"Even though the insecticide was only on the trees a short time I could notice an improvement in the sprayed areas compared to the areas not sprayed," said Taylor. "I also received calls from Maple Forest residents thanking us for spraying their area saying, 'We've got dead caterpillars laying everywhere!'"

"One good feeding day while B.t. is on the leaves will kill every caterpillar that ate that day," said DNR Forester Jim McMillan. McMillan said the defoliated trees would probably leaf out again by early July. McMillan said the county's plentiful rainfall this spring, resulting in excellent growing conditions, has helped the trees survive the defoliation. He said the early caterpillar hatch and the current size of the caterpillars indicate that they should be finished feeding in another seven to 10 days.

In addition to the areas sprayed by the county, gypsy moth coordinator Howard Taylor said several private individuals and the DNR contracted to have areas sprayed. These areas include Fox Run Country Club and 302 acres at Camp Grayling. The DNR sprayed Jones Lake Campground.

Areas sprayed by the county included: approximately 291 acres west of the corner of Chase Bridge Road and M-72 East, 270 acres in Sherwood Forest and the AuSable Trail areas, and three small areas near Lake Margrethe in Grayling Township, 240 acres in Beaver Creek Township, 70 acres in South Branch Township, and 150 acres in Maple Forest Township.

A 35-acre block in Beaver Creek

Township was deleted from the spraying this spring to protect the endangered Pygus Wyandot butterfly.

Spray areas are determined by a criteria set by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and involves numbers of eggs masses found in a particular area during a fall survey and the type of forest. The forest must contain 50% or more leafy trees. Dwellings must be within 1/4 mile of each other and the property must contain 50% trees.

HOMEOWNERS' EFFORTS CAN PAY OFF

Homeowners' ability to help protect their trees and shrubs survive attack by the gypsy moth caterpillar increases as their knowledge of the pest grows.

In early spring, the small caterpillars are very sensitive to sudden changes in temperature and mechanical disturbances. During this time, homeowners should watch for the small caterpillars and simply spray them out of the trees and shrubs with a garden hose and nozzle. This will usually kill them. Adding insecticidal soap to the water can increase the effectiveness of this tactic. Be sure to follow label instructions.

As the caterpillars grow, sticky, slippery or fabric bands can be placed around tree trunks to help curtail the caterpillar's journey into the tree canopy.

Biological and chemical insecticides are available through most local hardware stores or nurseries. The biological insecticide B.t. is sold under such trade names as Dipel, Thuricide and Bactur and bio-safe nematodes (Steinernema cappaecapsae) is sold as Biosis. Chemical insecticides such as acephate (Orthene), carbaryl (Sevin), malathion (Cythion) and methoxychlor (Marlate) are also available. All sprays need to be used with caution. Read and follow label instructions exactly and remember that humans and pets will probably frequent the sprayed area.

In the fall, homeowners should hunt for and destroy all egg masses found. The female moth generally lays eggs from mid to late July. The female gypsy moth cannot fly, so she will lay the eggs close to the area where she changed from a caterpillar into a moth. A female gypsy moth is creamy white and has a wingspan of about two inches.

Both the male and female have distinctive black chevron wing markings. If a large number of egg masses are found, Crawford County residents are urged to contact Howard Taylor at the courthouse to determine whether their property should be included in next year's spraying program.

"AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION..."

Homeowners can also help to reduce the gypsy moth population by keeping the yard as clean as possible. Remove discarded items, dead branches, and stumps where the female adult is likely to lay her eggs. If firewood is purchased, check the wood carefully for egg masses, especially if the firewood comes from an area infested by gypsy moths.

Because gypsy moth caterpillars feed in the tops of trees, Taylor said aerial spraying is still the most effective way to control the caterpillar population.

Finally, homeowners replacing trees lost to gypsy moths should consider planting species less susceptible to gypsy moth damage.

"Caterpillars usually won't feed on ash, pear, honey locust, London plane tree or sycamore, juniper, tulip tree, spruces, yews, hemlocks, firs, black locust, magnolia, lilac, euonymus, dogwood, catalpa, azalea, arborvitae, ginkgo and black gum," wrote Cooperative Extension Service Director Roy Spangler in a recent Avalanche column.

At the top of their list of favorite foods are oaks, some poplars and birches, willows, crabapples, red maples, and purple leaf plums.

To reduce the loss of trees from stress created by defoliation, homeowners should make sure to water and fertilize valuable landscape trees. This is especially important for trees and shrubs preferred by the caterpillars.

"The gypsy moth is cyclic," explained Taylor, "and like the tent caterpillars, they will be worse some years than others, but they are probably here to stay." He said homeowners should learn how they can protect their trees and then take the necessary steps to do so.

For more information about how to help control the gypsy moth population, contact either Howard Taylor or Roy Spangler at 348-2841.

Grayling Mailing Addresses Remain The Same For Now

Many homeowners in Crawford County are receiving new addresses in preparation for the 9-1-1 emergency telephone system coming this fall. Homeowners should begin displaying their new house numbers but the Grayling Post Office urges residents to keep using their current mailing address on correspondence until notified by the Post Office to change. The Grayling Post Office will notify residents when to switch their mailing address to the new house number system.

745th Unit Returns In Time For Graduation

By Irene Pettyjohn

When SFG Michael Garner left for the Persian Gulf he was reconciled that he would probably not be home to see his daughter, Jeniffer, graduate from Grayling High School on June 7. At that time, no one could have guessed that not only would he be home to see Jeni receive her high school diploma, but that his homecoming would be on graduation day.

"Things have been pretty uncertain for the last six months," said Mike's wife, Sherry as she held onto his hand Friday afternoon at the Camp Grayling Armory shortly after the unit arrived home, "but things will begin to straighten out now."

SFG Garner was among the eight member 745th Explosive Ordnance Disposal unit that returned to Camp Grayling on Friday, June 7. Grayling Middle School teacher Karen Wallace was also among the group that arrived at about 1:30 p.m., nearly two hours after her fifth grade class had been dismissed for summer vacation.

SPC Wallace was quickly surrounded by friends, fellow teachers, and student well-wishers. After sharing hugs and kisses, it was no time at all before she was giving a brief geography lesson to a group of her students about Saudi Arabia and what it was like to swim in a salty ocean.

The 745th E.O.D., assigned to the 1st Infantry Division, was the first Army National Guard unit to enter Iraq on the first day of the ground war. They remained in Iraq from the opening of the ground war until April 13. They returned to Iraq on April 22 and returned to Saudi Arabia on the May 9. Because of their meritorious service, Unit Commander CPT Mark Dillow has received a Bronze Star and five of the remaining seven members have also been nominated for this medal reserved for military personnel who put themselves at exceptional risk. And people say it's hard to find a bonafide hero these days!

Last November my heart ached for the troops and their families as one by one they answered the call to duty into dangers they could only imagine. On Friday the last Camp Grayling unit returned and once again I felt honored to be present at their homecoming. Welcome home! Thanks for a job well done!

Please let us not forget SSG Ronald Vradenburg or his wife, Peggy, or his children. Ron is still in Saudi Arabia with the 1439th and 1440th fire fighting equipment. His homecoming isn't scheduled until September or October. Only when we welcome Ron home will all of our local National Guard troops be home at last.

Man Found Dead At Campground

Bruce Daniel Dille, 32, of Midland, was found dead at the Shupac Lake Campground in Lovells Township on Saturday, June 8.

A camper discovered Dille's body at about 9 p.m. Saturday night when he became suspicious after the pickup had been parked at the campground for three days. A small portable grill was found inside the pickup.

A Crawford County Sheriff Dept. spokesman speculated that Dille may have been using the grill to heat the inside of his truck and was asphyxiated. He said they believe Dille's death was accidental.

Pet Care Tip

Be alert to weather in regard to your pets. Summer's heat is just as dangerous as winter's cold. Locking pets in cars without ventilation in warm weather results in great suffering and sometimes death, warns the National Humane Education Society.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

The old man has been busy lately, now with a nice list of garage sales to check out every week end. Garage sales are a lot of fun for you never know when you might find something you just can't live without. I try to check out all that I can. Besides the big bargain you might find you meet a lot of real nice people or old friends you have not seen in a while. My only complaint is that men are so reluctant to part with their goodies. The ladies seem to be much more generous in parting with their possessions than men. Most sales are loaded with the lady's contribution while men's items are hard to find. Come on guys, dig out some of your goodies when you have a garage sale.

I have often wondered if anything can trigger memories faster than old songs. I can hear a few words of an old song, and time just seems to fall away to the time I heard it before. Certain songs remind you of certain times, places, or people. Songs you may not have heard or thought about in years, when you hear them again can quickly take you back to a certain time or place. Thank God, a lot of radio stations feature those golden oldies that can hit you like a ton of bricks.

Another one of our senses that seem to have a very long memory is our sense of smell. It is amazing how you can catch a whiff of something you may not have smelled in many years and instantly know what it is. I don't think anyone can describe for instance the smell of a rose, but anyone who has smelled them could recognize that scent even if it had been years ago. A lot of times we can catch a whiff of smoke and quickly identify the type of material that is burning. God equipped us with a lot of fine safety devices that we never even think about. I know in my years as night guard at the M.A.T.E.S. shop that my nose was one of my most important tools. Many times when I entered a building a quick sniff of my nose detected trouble that my eyes would have missed.

I do wish to give a big thank you to all you folks that have sent in your orders for my new book Shantyboys and Woodchips, it will be a real help in paying for the publishing. I hope by the time this column is printed I can have the book in your hands. I can only say it is a real pleasure to live in a world with such nice people. Thank you.

I had planned to spend some time today out at the site of the old town of Pere Cheney but rain has again foiled me. But I guess there will be a dry day some time this summer and I'll do it then.

I also wish to extend a thank you to you folks who tell me you enjoy my efforts at writing. I do get discouraged at times and ready to hang it up, then someone will offer a few kind words and I am ready to joust my windmills again.

Removing Recycling Containers Is A Mistake

I think it is a shame that the recycling containers are being removed from the Grayling Township Compactor site on North Down River Road.

To encourage people to recycle — they did not require everyone to have a Grayling Township sticker, which was their first mistake. People without stickers were the ones to abuse this privilege and leave all of their garbage at the recycling containers or on the ground. The second mistake was not having someone at the containers to control the situation. As a result, Grayling Township residents that have paid the $15 per year fee to use this facility are now being penalized by not having the convenience of the use of these recycling containers. The third mistake is by having the containers removed, less people will recycle and our landfills will fill up quicker. Do you call this fair? I certainly don't and think this decision should be reconsidered.

Notes From The Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

Tickets were limited. So each one of the five of us hung on to our admission ticket carefully.

Seats were scarce. We were at the auditorium one full hour before the ceremony was to begin. And even so, we could only find seats that were two-thirds of the way to the back. But they were on the center aisle so we were quite pleased.

We were dressed unusually well for a Saturday afternoon. The women wore dresses; the men, suits and ties. This was an important occasion that none of us wanted to miss. My niece Heather, the first representative of the third generation of our family, would be graduating from high school today.

Due to the size of the graduating class (more than 660 students) and the seating limitations of the auditorium (evidently somewhat over 3,000), each graduate had been allotted only five tickets.

In our case, there were only enough for the graduate's mother, stepfather, grandmother, uncle and aunt — the most intimate members of our small family.

Grandfather wasn't there. His heart, which had failed the first time when his granddaughter was an infant, finally gave out for good her junior year of high school. But among the things he had left behind was his rose garden. So his wife carried the first rose of the summer with her to the ceremony to insure that his spirit would be there with us.

So we all held on tightly to our tickets until we could trade them for high-quality, multi-page programs at the entrance. Then we located five decent seats and sat down to be entertained with beautiful, mature performances by her high school's jazz and symphonic bands, symphony orchestra and concert choir while we waited for the commencement ceremony to begin.

A NEW GENERATION

Heather is 17 years old and Dave's and my first niece. We acquired a stepniece several years ago and there are three nephews (and one of unknown gender on the way) on my side of the family. But she is the oldest and experiences all the rites of passage first in her generation.

The years go by so fast, much too fast. I wasn't many years older than Heather is right now when she was born. Yet, as we do with major life events, I remember plainly where we were and what we were doing the moment Dave told me that his sister Sue was pregnant.

Dave was nonchalant about it, but his announcement was major news to me.

"Oh, Sue's going to have a baby," he said after coming home from a visit to his folks' home.

"Why didn't you tell me?" I yelled.

"I just did," he replied.

"I mean, as soon as you got home!" She was born, about eight months later, in early March. As soon as the week-end came, Dave and I went to meet her and hold her and take photos of the family's newest member.

Since then, we have glided in and out of each other's lives with a fair degree of regularity.

We are often together for major occasions, such as Christmas, Thanksgiving, Easter and Mother's and Father's Days.

We attended many of her birthday celebrations, particularly in her earlier years, and she was present at some of ours.

We were at the elementary school fair in which she was a gypsy fortune teller. Dave attended a soccer match when she was a child. We made it to at least one swim meet every year she was in high school.

But there were ever so many major events we missed. Ceremonies and performances and honors nights and dates and formal dances.

And of course we weren't there constantly as day-to-day existence moved her quietly and relentlessly through the inevitable stages from infancy to young adulthood.

GRADUATION DAY

So it was, on this Saturday, June 8, 1991, I felt no small degree of awe that, once again, that thief time had swiftly swept by, stealing the infant from us and replacing her with the high school graduate.

Promptly at two o'clock, as the symphonic band began Elgar and Poyhar's "Pomp and Circumstance," and the Traverse City High School Class of 1991 began their procession down the main aisles of Interlochen's Kresge Auditorium, I unsuccessfully steeled myself against tears.

If Heather's emotions weren't precisely the same as mine, she was also very moved by the occasion. She had cried as she said good-bye to her mother before leaving with her boyfriend for commencement exercises, and she wept some more when we all found each other amid the hundreds of other families outside the auditorium after the ceremony. Surely she — as did we all — recognized the significance of this major rite of passage.

My mother says that when I graduated from high school, she knew I would soon be leaving home for the last time. She was right. Three months later I went off to college, married even before I graduated and established my own homes.

I imagine it will be the same with Heather. She is bound for the University of Michigan where she will study business. Her future after undergraduate school is still uncertain and wide open, but in all likelihood it will not include moving back to her family's home in Traverse City.

AFTER GRADUATION

High school graduates like to pretend that they are ecstatic about graduation day, that they can't wait to leave their school and their home, their friends and their family, to make their own way in the world.

But the most sensitive and perceptive among them have some reservations. They intuit — correctly — that they will never again know such nurturing, safe and parental environments as the home and the local school; they will never again be together en masse with all of their classmates; they will have to start over in establishing friendships; care for their own needs; organize their time; make decisions and choices alone.

It's a big, beautiful world, full of opportunities, that awaits them. But the opportunities do not come without responsibilities and obligations and even dangers.

The TCHS Class of 1991 perhaps understood this when they chose as their theme, "Free Ride." As one of the commencement speakers told the graduates, "Today marks the end of your free ride."

Well, Heather doesn't need a free ride, anyway. Throughout her 17 years, she has developed the skills and attitudes and competencies she will need to be successful in college and in the adult world.

My absolute favorite of her senior photos shows her standing with her arms crossed in front of a sunny window with a small, amused smile on her face and wisdom and perception in her bright eyes. She looks to me like a young woman who will adeptly meet and conquer whatever challenges are put to her.

I have every confidence that she will build a good life for herself. She understands what is important, she knows when to work hard and when to ease back, she appreciates good times, she is kind to others and she has strength to endure bad times.

So what can I wish for her? I am careful not to wish for what would make me happy.

I will wish her this: the awareness of the passage of time. Although the years may seem to pass slowly now, with each additional one they will spin faster and faster.

And Heather, too, will wake up one sunny spring morning to face her own middle age as she prepares to attend the high school graduation ceremony of some young person she loves very much. I hope she will be able to say that she is pleased with her life thus far, that she has found much happiness in the intervening moments, days, months and years.

I also hope I'll be with her on that day, and that I can say the same. This I know: having had her in my life will have helped.

Politics is strange Down East

THEY PLAY POLITICS in strange ways in Massachusetts.

Witness a recent session of the Massachusetts legislature. The Bay State is experiencing most of the same money-squeeze woes as Michigan and most other states.

Yet the legislature recently voted a grant of $75,000 for a restoration project for the town of Ripton, and another $300,000 to study "the precarious activities of the endangered howe antelope."

Ripton didn't even have a lobbyist to work for the Massachusetts legislature.

As a matter of fact, there is no town of Ripton. A House committee apparently slipped the spending into the budget as a gag, tweaking legislators who ostensibly examine state spending to pare out the fat.

The same prank worked before; in 1985, Ripton received another $85,000 for some fake purpose.

Anyone who has ever watched a legislature in action — whether in Massachusetts or in Michigan — should not be surprised. Strange things happen.

MASSACHUSETTS POLITICS probably is different, however.

It gave the country Gov. Michael Dukakis, who ran one of the sorriest presidential campaigns in memory three years ago, and has dropped from political sight since.

It also has produced the Kennedy clan, and still boasts of Sen. Ted Kennedy, a true anomaly in American politics.

His private life is a shambles, racked by escapade after escapade which would spell finish to most political careers, but not a Kennedy career.

Sen. Kennedy apparently is viewed by most Washington insiders, most of his colleagues, and much of the national press as an outstanding senator, who does his job well and makes a genuine difference in national affairs.

How the two sides of Ted Kennedy can be reconciled is beyond me. Voters in Massachusetts apparently aren't bothered.

THE LATEST SCANDAL involves the senator as a bit player in an alleged rape at the family mansion in Palm Beach during Easter break. In a recent article appearing in The Detroit Free Press on the Kennedy aura, a Massachusetts state employee named Linda Shackley is quoted as saying the Palm Beach scandal "is like a family tradition . . . it's the stuff you expect from the Kennedys."

The same article quotes Boston columnist Howie Carr calling the latest scandal "child's play" and predicting:

"Let's face it. We have a slightly demented electorate. As long as his liver holds out, (Sen.) Kennedy will remain the senior senator from Massachusetts."

That's Massachusetts politics for you. Maybe it's the lobster and the clam chowder and all the fish they eat out there.

FRIENDLY PERSUASION — The person who wrote Ann Landers about bee problems is not from Massachusetts, but he probably vacations there.

"Concerned" wrote Ms. Landers about auto accidents caused when a driver panics because a bee is in a closed car, tries to swat the bee, loses driving control, and ends up in an accident.

Describing himself as a beekeeper's son, "Concerned" claims a bee will sting only to defend itself or protect its hive, and a bee in a car "is concerned with only one thing: getting out." His advice: "Please, Ann, tell your readers not to swat at a bee. They should pull the car off the road as soon as it is convenient and use gentle persuasion to get the bee to fly out the window . . ."

Fine, Mr. Beekeeper's Son. But how do you "gently" persuade a bee to leave?

How do you talk sense to a bee?

Phillips Named To CFC Data Board of Directors

Ronald M. Phillips, president of Chemical Bank North in Grayling, has been elected to the board of directors of CFC Data Corporation in Midland. CFC Data is the data processing subsidiary of Chemical Financial Corporation.

Phillips' election at the CFC Data annual meeting was announced today by Aloysius J. Oliver, president of CFC Data and executive vice president of Chemical Financial Corporation.

Phillips joined the Chemical organization as an assistant vice president in the installment loan department at Chemical Bank and Trust Company in Midland. He became senior vice president of the bank in 1976. In 1978, he was named president of Chemical Bank South, located in Marshall, and moved to Stanton as president of Chemical Bank Montcalm in 1982. Then, in 1985, he was named president of Chemical Bank North.

CFC Data's parent company, Chemical Financial Corporation, is one of the ten largest bank holding companies in Michigan.

3 Local Students Graduated From COOR

Three Crawford County residents completed the C.O.O.R. Intermediate special education program and were graduated in commencement exercises Monday, June 3.

Timothy Tarr, of Grayling, and Brian Tirsch, of Frederic, completed the severely mentally impaired program and Thomas Tarr, of Grayling, completed the trainable mentally impaired program.

A total of six students completed the programs this year. Lyle Spalding, C.O.O.R. Superintendent, and Ruggero Dozzi, C.O.O.R. Special Education Director, spoke during the commencement exercises.

Pleasure Boating Class Offered

A pleasure boating class will take place at the Grayling Fire Dept. on James Street. The class is on June 22 from 9 to 11 a.m. The last part of the class is on the 29th of June from 9 to 11 a.m. You must be 12 years old to attend this class. For more information, call the Crawford Co. Sheriff Dept. at 348-6341.

Keusch, Mansfield Earn MSU Degrees

Janie Keusch and Dennis Mansfield, both of Grayling, received bachelor of arts degrees from Michigan State University. Keusch's major is in social work and Mansfield's major is in journalism. Mansfield was graduated with honors.

ANGER HONORED--Rodger Anger, (right) general manager of Weyerhaeuser, was presented with a token of appreciation for more than seven years of service and dedication to the Grayling Recreation Authority by Dan Wyers, recreation director. Anger served as vice president for several terms and was a member of the management team that directed the operations of the facility. His professional expertise in business and management matters, was an asset to the board and the community, said Wyers. Anger recently resigned stating that time constraints prevented him from proper participation and offered his continued support to Grayling Recreation Authority. Bill Bochner, also from Weyerhaeuser, was appointed to the position on the board vacated by Anger.

Mercy Memo

By Mary Jo Conway, Community Relations Manager

Nurses at Mercy Hospital recently celebrated National Nurses Week with a number of fun activities: a taco party, fashion show, beauty makeovers, and gift giveaways. They also gave other staffers the opportunity to "Walk A Day In My Shoes" (be a nurse for a day).

It was a morning I had looked forward to for weeks. My borrowed lab coat was neatly pressed and appropriately decorated with various buttons and pins. My new Reeboks were clean and I chuckled at the simple nicety of being able to wear tennis shoes at work. I learned very quickly why nurses at Mercy Hospital wear Reeboks... they rarely sit down and are constantly moving at a fast pace. At least Geri Huber, R.N., was.

Geri welcomed me to the 2 North unit at 8:30 a.m. I told her I didn't want to do anything unpleasant. She said she had to clean a bedpan. Guilt overruled and I didn't want to cop out on the first activity of the day. I made a commitment and could handle that routine nursing chore. To comfort myself I borrowed a stethoscope. If I was going to be a nurse, I wanted to look the part. I swung the instrument around my neck and followed her to the bathroom.

It could have been worse, I guess. She explained the reason why the patient needed to have his stools checked. She tested for blood and marked it on the chart. It was OK, but I'd rather write press releases.

We walked briskly to the nurses station and Geri explained that she was the head RN that day. The team approach is used on the units now, where one RN is responsible for total patient care, although the actual delivery of care is given by a team: RN, LPN, Nurse Aide, and a host of other ancillary staff. Geri was overseeing ten patients, and was responsible for the direct care of three.

"Just three patients?" I thought to myself. Didn't seem like a lot. Then two lights came on at the same time and they were both Geri's. She's a smart nurse and, like most, can anticipate the patient's needs. We quickly went from room to room answering questions, giving medications, changing bed sheets, assisting patients with walking, and other activities. I nearly fainted when she cleaned a deep surgical incision but clung to my stethoscope instead, remembering my purpose for the day.

It was almost 10:30 a.m. before I started wondering when we could sit down. The Reeboks were holding up well. It wasn't long when Geri began the arduous duty of charting what she had done, and reviewing the charts to make sure that everything was getting done. Reading a physician's handwriting is something they don't teach in nursing school. Once you get to know the physician, their scratches and scribbles make sense. As I can best understand the flow of things: The doctor makes the order, the nursing team makes sure the orders are carried out. Sounds easy, right?

"Following the doctors orders" can sometimes mean a hundred different tasks for a nurse. And each time they perform that task, they have to write it down... many times in more than one place. While they must keep up with the paperwork, it takes second fiddle to meeting the patient's immediate needs.

Interruptions were constant, but Geri remained focused on the task at hand. "She must be an organizer who loves details," I thought. Geri, being her organized self, opted for the later lunch so she could spend time catching up on her paperwork.

Nursing is a challenging profession and Geri is undoubtedly one of the best. She smiled often, addressed the patient by their name, followed through on her promises. Caring takes time, and I was proud to be working with a nurse who took the time to care.

After four hours at a non-stop pace, we took a quick 20-minute lunch. Geri doesn't like to make her patients wait.

My four hours were up, and I had to relinquish the telescope. I proudly kept the lab coat on for the rest of the day and the Reeboks too. When I arrived back at my office, I felt a sense of relief. Then the phone rang and my "regular" day began.

My job isn't much different than Geri's. Lots of interruptions, questions to be answered, tasks to perform. "She'll have to spend a day in my shoes," I thought to myself. And I'll make her wear high heels, too.

ADULT GRADUATION--Superintendent Kent Reynolds gives a diploma to a student while adult education director R. J. Hannan reads off the names of 34 graduates.

34 Adult Students Graduated

On Thursday evening, May 30, the Crawford AuSable Community Education high school completion program held its commencement exercises in the Joseph Stripe Auditorium at Grayling High School. In the combined exercise, fifteen students received their high school diploma and nineteen students received their GED certificates. Guest speaker for the commencement was Kent S. Reynolds, Superintendent of Crawford AuSable Schools. In his speech, Mr. Reynolds referred to the adversities faced by student returning to complete their education; working, raising a family, and attending classes. By completing this program, students have opened the door to many more opportunities.

Following the presentation of diplomas and certificates, R. J. Hannan, director of Adult and Community Education, offered a note of congratulations and closing remarks.

Students receiving high school diplomas were: Lisa M. Bancroft, Rebecca J. Carroll, Deborah A. Daniels, Terri Devine, Donna Ducastle, Phyllis D. Everson, William Franks, Tina Golnick, Dawn M. Herrick, Timothy B. Moore, Terry J. Rankin, Diane Roldan, Marilyn I. Sekely, Alesia B. Southworth, and Paul D. Zill.

New Patterns, Fabrics, Books, And Ideas Available At Icehouse Quilt Market Tea

Intrepid travelers, Jill Wyman and Dawn Goodrich, have just returned from a quilt seminar in Portland, Maine, and the International Quilt Market in Kansas City, Missouri, and are spilling over with new books, patterns, fabrics, and ideas to share with their Icehouse friends.

To introduce these wonderful new materials and share their new ideas, the Icehouse is hosting their annual What's New From Quilt Market Tea on June 14 from 1-3 p.m. Everyone is welcome! Tea and tasties will be served.

All the new quilting merchandise that Jill and Dawn could carry back with them will be unveiled and displayed in the upstairs classroom. There will be a $5 fee for the tea, and like last year, everyone attending the tea will receive a $5 gift certificate, redeemable for any of the new items.

"What we couldn't carry home, we have pictures of," said Jill, owner of the Icehouse, located on Norway Street. "We're still excited about everything we've seen and learned!"

Jill and her daughter, Dawn Goodrich, left Grayling on Friday, May 24, for Maine, to attend author and lecturer Mary Ellen Hopkins' quilting seminar. They returned on June 1, staying long enough to repack their suitcases, before flying off to the International Quilt Market in Missouri.

Jill and Dawn were among approximately 2,500 pattern and fabric designers, teachers and authors, and retail quilt shop owners attending the International Quilt Market. Pattern designs include all types of quilt, doll, toy, and animal patterns that involve the use of needle, thread, and fabric, machine and hand sewn.

"We took empty suitcases with us and filled them with new books, patterns, new notions, and all sorts of necessary quilting paraphernalia," said Jill. "The International Quilt Market gives us a chance to intermingle with designers and talk about what's new in the market and what people want. It's also an opportunity to meet with other shop owners and learn what classes they are offering, what their new products are, and to share sources."

In Maine, Jill and Dawn learned several new quilting techniques from Mary Ellen Hopkins' latest book entitled, Con- necting Up.

"It would be impossible for Mary Ellen to travel to every quilt shop so she holds these seminars for shop owners," said Jill. "It enables us to learn new techniques to bring back and teach in our own shops. These are accurate, precise, machine piecing techniques."

Many people think quilts have to be hand pieced, but Jill said if a person learns the proper techniques of machine piecing they can be just as accurate.

Each of the 63 persons who attended the seminar was asked to bring 50 yards of fabric to use in projects. In addition to shop owners, fabric designers and authors also attend Mary Ellen's seminars. Many of these authors are former students of Mary Ellen who have taken quilting a step beyond their teacher's lessons. People came from all over the United States and as far away as Australia.

"When we returned our heads were just spinning," said Jill.

Quilt Sitters is an organization of quilters who have attended one or more of Mary Ellen's Quick Quilting classes. Twenty-six members of the Grayling group met on Tuesday, May 21, to share a potluck dinner and quilting ideas with one another.

Before leaving on her most recent trips, Jill mailed the Icehouse Crier newsletter which is filled with the latest information on the Icehouse's Birthday Sale, Bernina Grand Opening, and schedule of summer classes.

To celebrate the Icehouse's 11th Birthday, Jill is having a month long sale in June with different items featured each week.

The Icehouse is also having a Grand Opening Sale, which began June 1, introducing Bernina Sewing Machines to the northern Michigan area. See the newsletter for more details on both of these specials.

The newsletter contains a complete listing of all summer sewing classes. These classes include several new classes along with the return of many favorite ones. It will feature a three-day progressive quilt retreat with creative author Madonna Ferguson from East Lansing and fiber artist Jacquelyn Faulkner from East Lansing and Seattle, Washington, will also be sharing her pictorial quilt and Hapi Coat techniques.

Monthly teas will continue throughout the summer and the entire Icehouse staff would like to extend a warm invitation to all their friends.

At the July tea, Justin Rashad, founder of the American Spoon Foods, will be the guest-of-honor, and will be sharing some information about his Petoskey based gourmet food company.

Bonnie Mickelson, author of Hollyhocks and Radishes, from Bellevue, Washington, will be autographing her cookbook at the August tea and Madonna will be returning in the fall for the September tea to share some quilts from her own collection as well as quilts from several students.

"I'll be here," said Jill. "I'm not leaving Grayling for the rest of the summer!"

QUILTING DIGNITARY--Bernice McCoy Stone, an avid maker, collector, teacher, and historian of quilts, from Kensington, California, visited the Icehouse on May 23 and displayed her quilt containing many of her "happy childhood memories" of summer vacations spent in northern Michigan. Mrs. Stone travels nationwide lecturing on the connection quilts have with the popular culture in what she calls her "All Talking Singing Traveling Medicine Quilt Show."

Your Social Security

Include Name Change In Wedding Plans

Brides should keep Social Security in mind when making their wedding plans. It is very important that a new bride who plans to use her married name at work, report her change of name to Social Security. Unless the new name is reported, her earnings may not be posted properly to her Social Security record.

Failure to report a change of name to Social Security is one of the most frequent causes of errors in wage records. Since eligibility and benefits for Social Security retirement, disability, and survivors insurance are based on the earnings in the records kept by Social Security, incorrect records could mean lower benefits, delayed benefits, or ineligibility for benefits.

Changing a name in Social Security records is a simple procedure — and it's a free service. The bride should complete an application form (available from Social Security, or the Post Office or County Clerk) and submit it with the marriage certificate.

Only the original or certified copy of the document is acceptable, (not a photocopy). However, your document will be returned to you.

The application and marriage record can be mailed or brought in person to the Social Security office. It then takes about ten days for the new card to arrive by mail. Only the name will change on the card; you always keep the same Social Security number.

Anyone who has had a name change and never reported it to Social Security should do so, regardless of the amount of time that has passed. Evidence of the name change is also required.

For more information or an application form, contact Social Security toll-free at 1-800-234-5772, or in Traverse City, at (616) 946-8361.

A representative is at the County Building in Grayling on the first and third Tuesday of each month, from 10:30 until 2 p.m. There is no phone service at this location. Callers may use the toll-free service.

Poet's Corner

Money

May your pockets bulge with money
And your shoes always have a shine.
The ladies call you honey
And your cup filled with good tasting wine;

May you grow old with happy thoughts
Of people you helped along the way.
Always wanted what you bought
And your back yard, there is a bay;

May you always have an answer
For people that ask you things.
No one with you has anger
And their happy feelings to you bring;

May you find the world's riches
So many thrown away.
In this life you find your niche
And never be castaway;

So enjoy your life
As you are the world's honey.
Enjoy your wife
And all of her money.

Bits Of Talk

by Fay Bovee

Amy Valdick, daughter of Terry Valdick and Elizabeth Weaver, was one of 286 graduates at Concord High School in Elkhart, Indiana, on Friday, May 31, 1991. In honor of the occasion, Terry and Kathy Valdick had a party for her on Saturday, June 1. Attending the festivities were Elizabeth and Steven Weaver, Travis, Nathan, and Aaron, Bud and Arlene Halstead, Erma Valdick, Ken and Mary Wright, all of Grayling, and Kris Waters of Big Rapids. The Halsteads stayed over until Sunday to attend church with Amy at which time 21 graduates were honored at the Beulah Missionary Church. Amy returned to Grayling to visit relatives and her mother, Elizabeth hosted a party on Saturday, June 8, for the family. Amy will be attending Bethel College in the fall.

Bud and Arlene Halstead hosted a homecoming party two weeks ago for their son, Kim Halstead, who arrived home from Saudi Arabia with the 1440th. His brothers and sisters, Raymond of Grayling, Ken of Frederic, Elizabeth Weaver, and Carolyn Baker and their families all attended.

Mrs. Ingeborg Raac, Mrs. Mildred Blaine, her son, John Blaine, wife and family, all attended the wedding of Susan Munn and Richard Brindley, on Saturday, June 1, 1991, at the Holy Family Catholic Church near West Branch. Susan is the daughter of Robert and Karen Hanson Munn and the granddaughter of the late Ronnow and Marion Hanson of Grayling.

David Stephan spent 15 days here with his parents, Lacey and Carol Stephan, before returning to his Army base. His brother and wife, Lacey and Toni Stephan picked him up at Metro Airport in Detroit and brought him home, completely surprising his parents. He had been in Saudi Arabia but had returned to Berlin, Germany, before coming home. His mother and grandmother, Julia Millikin, took him back to Metro last Friday and he returned to Berlin. Carol and Julia also visited Julia's sister, Martha Ruchinski, at a nursing home in Wayne, before coming back to Grayling.

Applications Available For Camp Kett

This year's 4-H Camp Kett will be "Wet, Wild, and Wonderful." Youth will spend three days at Camp Kett near Tustin learning about animals, the environment, making crafts, and habitats.

Some of the activities will include making paper, terrariums, bird feeders, T-Shirt painting, and campfires. Youth will also learn about endangered species and the importance of keeping our groundwater safe.

Camp Kett will be held June 28, 29, and 30, for youth ages 8-12. Cost is $45 per person. The 4-H office will continue to accept applications until camp is full. If you have any questions about camp, please contact Shelley Hubbard, at 348-2841 ext. 264.

CELEBRATE 60TH--Henry and Lila Smith of Frederic will celebrate their 60th anniversary. The former Lila Thompson and her husband were married June 16, 1931, in Perrinton, Michigan. They have one son, Charles.

Wakeley, Davis Receive Marshall Music Scholarships

Local students Melissa Wakeley and Brion Davis were awarded music scholarships at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp for summer study.

Music scholarships are awarded by Marshall Music Company of Lansing to those students deemed most worthy based on musicianship, citizenship, and musical achievement, as determined by the school music staff and school administration. Marshall Music Company annually gives several hundred scholarships to students in schools serviced by the firm throughout the state. Each scholarship is in the amount of $225.

Students participate in concentrated sectional and large group studies along with other outstanding student musicians from throughout the state. They also have the opportunity to play under the direction of nationally known conductors.

Singles Club Holding Potluck

All single persons are invited to a Singles Club potluck supper at 6 p.m. Saturday, June 15, at Virginia Millikin's at 9525 S. Grayling Rd. Meat and beverages are furnished. Bring a dish to pass and your own table service.

Campbell Completes Repair Course

Michael (Jack) Campbell, of Grayling, has completed a Master Course in Small Engine Repair and has been awarded a Diploma by the National Radio Institute of Washington, D.C. He finished the prescribed course of studies with credible grades.

VFW Auxiliary Celebrates Original Memorial Day

The V.F.W. Post 3736 and Auxiliary celebrated Memorial Day on the original day, May 30, instead of on the weekend. They feel this is the day to remember our war heroes living or dead.

Auxiliary officers said the men of the VFW post did a nice job cleaning up at the Pere Cheney Cemetery. It looked very nice until it was vandalized.

Jim Vanderlean allowed the VFW Auxiliary use of his window at the former Little Red Shoe House location for a VFW display. Many people donated items to help Yettev Szkotnicki, Bernadine Denton, and Lou Ann Crosby do the decorating in it. The VFW extends a big welcome to all Veterans coming home.

Calvary Baptist Church Planning Training Exercises

Calvary Baptist Church on M-72 West of Grayling will be conducting training exercises for the Lord's army, the week of June 17-21, from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, as part of their annual daily Vacation Bible School. All children in the community are invited to attend. They are also encouraged to wear camouflage and army clothing to the meetings. They'll have videos and song, Bible stories and prizes. There will also be surprises everyday, as the boys' and girls' armies compete for the most recruits and to bring in the most pennies for missions to military at Ft. Bragg, North Carolina. All the pennies will go to the missionaries at Ft. Bragg.

Latest Outdoor Gear Featured At Michigan Canoe Event

Find out about canoeing and outdoor gear at The Michigan Canoe Event set for Saturday, June 22, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Hanson Hills Recreational Area.

There will be more than 40 different models from Old Town, Mad River, We-no-nah and Blackhawk available for demonstrating and "test paddling." Many manufacturers of outdoor gear such as tents, backpacks, dry food, paddles, sleeping bags, etc., will be on hand conducting mini-seminars and giving out information.

Presented by Cartwright & Danewell, Michigan's fastest growing outdoor store, this on-the-water clinic is an excellent opportunity to experience canoes designed for general recreation, cruising, whitewater, freestyle, racing, and fishing.

At The Michigan Canoe Event one will feel the difference in the handling characteristics and learn about the high tech materials and designs that comprise today's scientifically advanced canoes. "Improvements in canoe construction and design in just the last ten years make the current line of canoes a totally new experience from those in the past. Anyone who has paddled an old aluminum or fiberglass canoe will certainly appreciate the benefits. Today's canoes are much lighter, more stable, quieter, and tougher. For most people, flatwater and smaller streams are where canoeing has its greatest appeal.

Almost everyone has convenient access to waterways," comments Michael Searles of Cartwright & Danewell. "Even in large metropolitan areas there are usually several good rivers and other bodies of water nearby. Just put your canoe on top of the car and go. One doesn't need to worry about finding a boat launch, buying gasoline, or towing a trailer."

The Michigan Canoe Event will include topics on water safety and how to paddle a canoe, plus demonstrations of the versatility of the canoe, including racing, freestyle, touring, and whitewater technique.

The schedule of exhibitions is as follows: 9 to 10 a.m.—Introduction to Kayak Camping, Steve Morgan; 9 to 10 a.m.—Canoe Racing, Lynn Witte and Butch Stockton; 9 to 10 a.m.—Solo Paddling, Phil Siggelkow; 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.—Tandem Touring Technique, Molly Start and Harry Roberts; 10 to 11 a.m.—Freestyle Paddling, Mary Lou Green and Charlie Wilson; 1 to 2 p.m.—Wilderness Tripping, Kermie Gilliam; 2 to 3 p.m.—

Whitewater Paddling, Brad Howarth and Margaret Kuhn; 2 to 3 p.m.—2,000 Mile Solo Voyage, Mary Lou Green; 4 to 5 p.m.—Interpretive Free Style Paddling, Mary Lou Green and Charlie Wilson; 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.—Test Paddling Of Canoes and Kayaks.

For further information, contact Cartwright & Danewell at P.O. Box 667, Grayling, MI, 49738, or (517) 348-7903.

Government Action

SYNOPSIS

May 22, 1991

Regular Meeting

Crawford County

Board of Commissioners

The Regular meeting of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners convened on 5-22-91 at 9:30 a.m. in the County Building, Grayling, MI.

Commissioners present: Long, Goodale, Riley, Callewaert, Smock, Hulbert, and McLachlan. County Clerk Elizabeth Wieland present. There were eight visitors present at various times.

IN FORMAL ACTION, COMMISSIONERS:

Accepted the Special Meeting Minutes of 5-2-91 and the Regular Meeting Minutes of 5-8-91 as presented.

Accepted 20 pieces of communications.

Approved the leasing of the facility owned by Milltown Refuse Co., on a temporary basis by North Light, at a cost of $250 per month including utilities.

Supported the City of Grayling's Resolution to cease all expenditures regarding the Presidential Preference Primary until the State escrows $1,000 per precinct toward the cost of such an election.

Accepted a recommendation of the Personnel & Labor Committee and offered a settlement for grievance filed by the County Building AFSCME Bargaining Unit.

Increased the amount for the postage meter from $1,000 to $1,500.

Allowed the registration fee of $45 and lodging fee of $112 for the Probate Register's Summer Conference.

Requested the Prosecutor draft an amendment to the existing ordinance requesting reimbursement for police officer's time, fire fighters, and ambulance attendants for alcohol related accidents. The amendment would cover our current ambulance service.

Requested the Prosecutor furnish information on the amount of revenue collected and the status of the ordinance to collect reimbursements from alcohol related accidents.

Requested the Property Management Committee Chairman answer the MAC survey on underground storage tanks.

Accepted the proposal of John-Al Construction Co., Inc., in the amount of $785 to cut a new door in the restroom of the County Building Annex for Central Dispatch.

Granted the request of Howard Taylor—Director of Gypsy Moth Program to have the $1,562.50 yearly salary spread out over the year by pay period.

Approved purchase of the necessary emulation kit and cable connections in the amount of $749.50 to hook up equipment with District Court for the Community Corrections Authority Board.

Approved a salary increase of $500 each for Housing Director/Secretary Jeannine Eggert and Housing Specialist/Inspector Gary Johnson retroactive to 1-1-91.

Approved having the dispatch tower repaired in conjunction with the E-911 system.

Entered into an agreement with the U.S. Federal Forest Service for patrol of Kneff Lake as presented.

Authorized purchase of the radar equipment for the Sheriff's Dept. in the amount of $984.25 from the General Fund.

Approved purchase of the Sharp 8300 Copier with stand.

Accepted the proposal of Showtime Collision in the amount of $836.35 to repair a Sheriff Dept. vehicle involved in a car-deer accident.

Denied a request to allow the Undersheriff to attend the quarterly meetings scheduled by Municipal Risk at a cost of $70 plus transportation.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, COMMISSIONERS:

Forwarded a liability suit to our Insurance's Legal Council.

Received notice of DNR's Position to execute Act 641 County Solid Waste Management Planning Grant Contracts.

Received information from Property Management Committee regarding the proposals they received on computer equipment. A seminar was suggested to discuss common needs.

Suggested the fuel tanks at the airport be removed with the funding that is available. Also, the tank at the Sheriff Dept. should be removed by C.F. Fick & Sons, Inc.,—owners of the tank.

Were informed if the bill passes the legislature, Crawford County is still in line for funding of E-911 in the amount of $51,000 or $53,000 for Central Dispatch; however, there are no funds for equipment, or to re-locate.

Received a copy of the 1992 General Fund Budget report as submitted to the Tax Allocation Board justifying a 6.50 mill request.

Discussed prison labor doing jobs in the community. There is no problem with work crews helping municipalities—this saves tax dollars.

Heard brief up-dates from various other committees.

Crawford County

Road Commission

Minutes of April 26, 1991

A regular meeting of the Crawford County Road Commissioners was held in their office in Grayling. Present were: Chairman Norman Parker, Commissioners Clyde Anthony and Kenneth Chapp, Engineer-Manager John Keir, Assistant Engineer-Manager Richard Young, and Accounting Clerk Joanne Thompson.

The minutes of the previous meeting of April 12, 1991, were read. Commissioner Anthony made a motion to accept the minutes, with a correction, seconded by Commissioner Chapp. All voted in favor, minutes approved.

Payroll Voucher Number 9 in the amount of $27,345.16 and Material checks numbered 18567 through 18601 in the amount of $32,994.24 were ratified.

Permits were reviewed and signed as follows: Consumers Power to set one pole and two guy wires on W. Beaver Road in Beaver Creek Township and PetroStar Energy to install steel gas pipeline along Forester Road in South Branch Township. A permit from Central Paving was held until the Engineer-Manager can contact them regarding curb and gutter work that should be included in the permit.

Upon motion duly made, seconded and carried, it was resolved the new signature cards from the financial institution be updated with Richard G. Young to be included effective May 17, 1991, along with the renewal of Pauline Hatfield, Payroll Clerk, and Joanne Thompson, Accounting Clerk for both the payroll and material accounts.

Discussion was held on a Drug Free Work Place Policy.

Mr. Oliver Hawley appeared before the Board regarding CCC Road. He was instructed to contact John Hartman, Beaver Creek Township Supervisor.

Engineer-Manager Keir raised the issue of better problems in the county and spoke of the different solutions used by adjoining counties.

Discussion was held on the fuel system and the need for a pressure washer. The Board instructed Engineer-Manager Keir to purchase the one they had demonstrated approximately six weeks ago. It was decided to utilize the existing fuel dispensing system to begin operation and use of Road Commission fuel tanks.

Assistant Engineer-Manager Richard Young gave a brief synopsis of the Engineer Workshop he and John Keir attended.

A motion was made and seconded to adjourn. All voted in favor, meeting adjourned. Joanne Thompson Accounting Clerk Clyde Anthony Chairman Vice

County Fair Asks People To 'Put Your Foot Down'

On June 12, the Crawford County Fair Association kicked off its "Put Your Foot Down for the Crawford County Fair" fundraising campaign. This fundraiser will raise money to lay concrete floors in the pavilion and the small barn at the Crawford County Fairgrounds. Estimates to install a concrete floor in the pavilion alone rings in at approximately $6,000. The Fair Association hopes to have the money raised in time to have the floors finished for this year's fair.

When completed, the pavilion will be available for use by the whole community. With its new stage and lighting, the pavilion may be used day or night for bingo, concerts, fashion shows, family reunions, company picnics, and dozens of other uses.

For a tax deductible donation of $25, the donor's name will be permanently displayed in the pavilion. The "Feet" are now on sale, and may be purchased from any Crawford County Fair Association member. Other Association supporters who will be handling sales will be listed in the Avalanche in the near future.

So for those of you that want to see some change at the Crawford County Fairgrounds, now's the chance to "put your foot down."

listed in the 1991 Crawford County Fair Premium Book. Then on Saturday, July 20th, any of the soldiers listed in the dedication will be given free admission to the fair. The list will be a compilation of the lists published in the Crawford County Avalanche.

The Crawford County Fair will officially open at 12 noon Wednesday, July 17th with a flag raising ceremony. Wednesday will be Kid's Day, with special ride prices. 4-H will be providing a variety of kids games including a pie eating contest sponsored by Glen's Market. On Wednesday evening, Crawford County girls from ages 5 to 8 will be vying for the crown at the second annual Crawford County's Little Miss contest. Look for an application in the Crawford County Avalanche, the fair's 1991 Premium Book, and at various businesses in the county.

Also on the agenda for Wednesday evening is the return of the Donkey Races. The races were a big hit last August when they were held, and they are sure to provide a lot of laughs again this year, for rider and spectators alike. The donkeys are each sponsored by local individuals and business. The jockeys are provided by the sponsors. If you would be interested in sponsoring a donkey, contact John Naour at 348-6481.

The 2nd annual Crawford County Fair Talent Show will be taking place Thursday, July 18th, at 7 p.m. in the pavilion. Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded to the top performers in several age classes. Look for an application in the Crawford County Avalanche and the fair's 1991 Premium Book.

Friday's schedule will include a 50/50 raffle, with a drawing held when every 50th ticket is sold. Money raised from this raffle will be split between the Grayling 4-H and the Fair Association.

Due to injuries to riders in the show, Bullmania, the two day Texas-style rodeo show has been postponed. Look for a weekend of cows, bulls, horses, clowns, and all kinds of excitement to appear at the fairgrounds later this summer.

Throughout the fair, look for horse and buggy rides, a petting zoo, and the greased pole with cash prizes. Local gardeners, artists, craftsmen, cooks, and bakers will have a multitude of their crafts on display. Arnold Amusements will again be on hand to provide the thrills and chills with their rides and games.

Saturday's schedule will provide a full round of events to provide something for everyone. Tickets will be on sale all day for the Mystery Car raffle, with the drawing to be held Saturday evening. Professional clowns, Medals and Me Too, will be on hand throughout the day entertaining young and old alike. A Celebrity Dunk will be held giving everyone a chance to dunk their favorite celebrity.

The big event for Saturday evening will be the Demolition Derby, seeing who can outlast the smash and crash of the derby.

Area Couple To Perform Ministry At Full Gospel Businessmen's World Convention

Dan and Maggie Waggoner, formerly of Grayling, now residing in Gaylord, are in an independent interdenominational children's evangelism ministry called "Little Sheep Ministry/Hoo Haw and Rosie the Clowns."

They have been invited to work at the Full Gospel Businessmen's World Convention at the Peabody Hotel in Orlando, Florida, July 2-6.

They will be working with the group's children's ministry headed by Jean Prickett who has been involved in children's ministry with the Full Gospel Businessmen's group for thirty years.

Many local people have seen their program as they have ministered across the northern Michigan area, and in the Grayling area they have been seen at St. John Lutheran, Abundant Life, Jellystone Campground, and as special entertainment for the River House Shelter Volunteer recognition luncheon.

They will be part of the convention team which will include Benny Hinn, Marilyn Hickey, and others.

While they are in Florida, they will be making arrangements to minister at many churches in the central Florida area.

In order to facilitate this trip, and this opportunity to share the Love of Jesus with these children, the couple is seeking financial assistance. Although they do not yet have tax exempt status, they said they feel strongly about financial accountability, and all monies received are reported and used only for ministry purposes.

Donations to assist them in their mission can be sent to P.O. Box 1061, Gaylord, MI, 49735.

Designate your offerings to Daniel or Margaret Waggoner. For more information or to request their ministry services, call them at 732-5190.

They will be part of a ministry team working with up to 400 children for three sessions daily during the four day convention.

Dan and Maggie will be performing their one hour show twice daily. Their program includes biblical values and moral teachings, as well as a strong anti-drug and alcohol segment. They use music, skits, illusions, comedy, and puppets.

GHS Team Makes Knowledge Bowl Semi-Finals

Students from GHS's Advanced Studies Class, taught by Lynn Thompson, competed this year in Knowledge Bowl, a televised academic competition held at CBS affiliate station WBKB in Alpena. Competition opened on October 10 against Rogers City. The GHS team for that match included junior captain Jordan Stancil, junior Angela Thompson, freshman Max Thompson and freshman Lenny Kraus.

In Knowledge Bowl competition, two panels of competing students attempt to be the first to buzz in with correct answers to a variety of questions posed by an adult moderator. Questions come from the areas of science, geography, history, religion, cultural literacy and mathematics, and are grouped into four different rounds of play.

Sample questions used in GHS's first competition included: "What effect does a turnbuckle have on a vise to which it is attached?" (It shortens it.) and "What statue stands on the border between Peru and Chile?" (Christ of the Andes.)

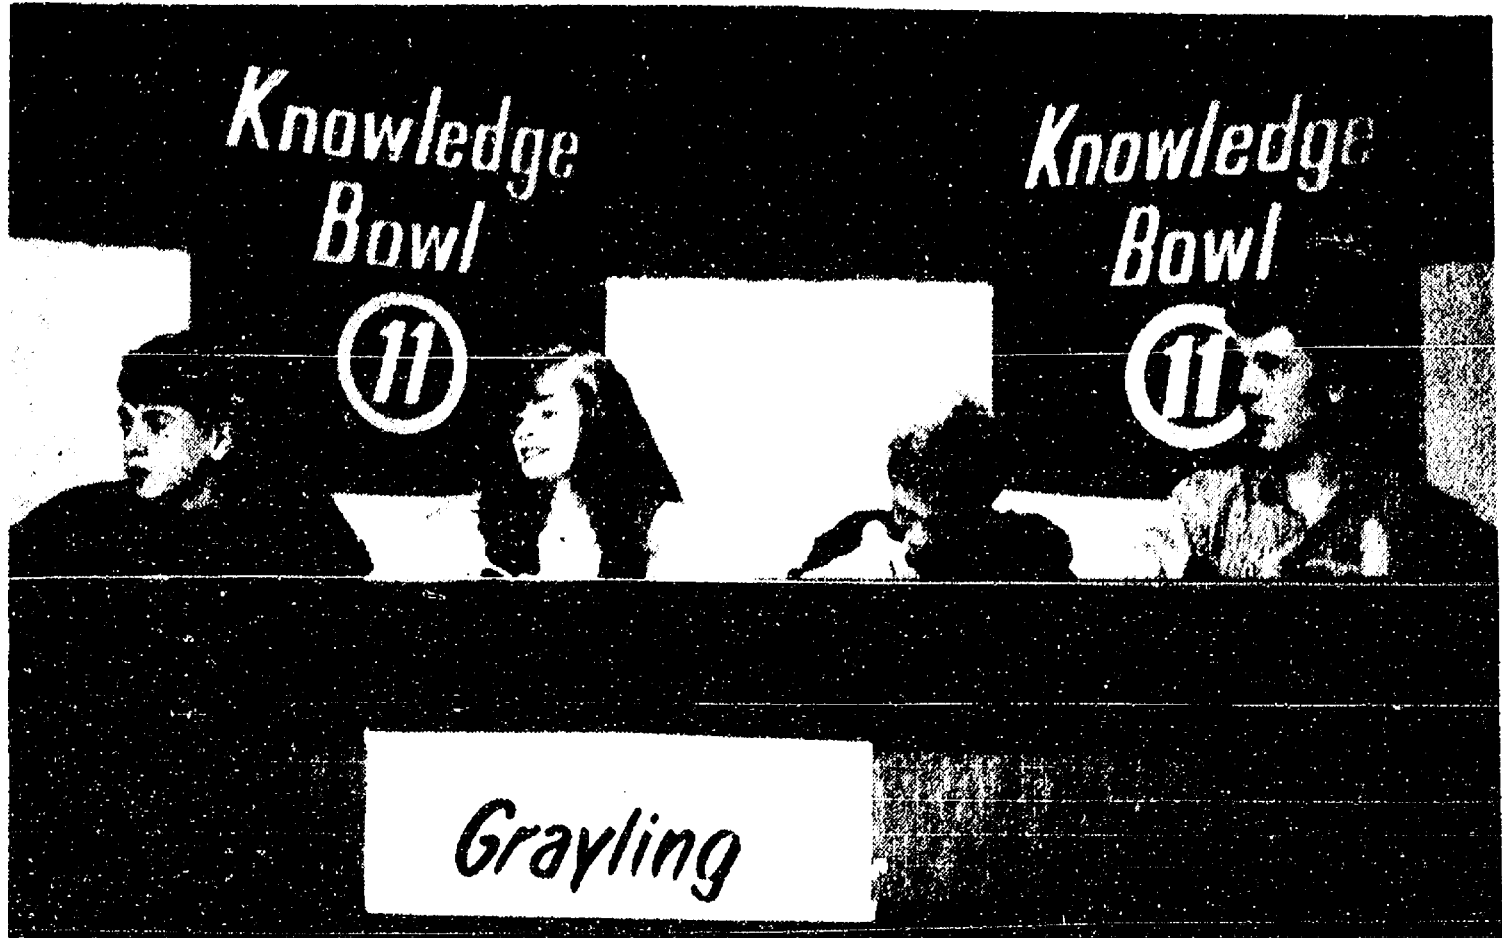

Grayling fell to Rogers City, 235-120, then turned around to beat Alpena (290-90), the highest score posted thus far by any team) on November 14. Junior Josh Lepsy joined the team for the second match.

Later in the season, Grayling defeated Oscoda and Standish, which qualified them for the semi-final match, held May 8, against Tawas City. Juniors Niki Barnes and Bob Hebel competed with the team for the semi-finals.

Grayling lost a closely fought contest against Tawas by a margin of only three questions.

The GHS Advanced Studies class has competed in Knowledge Bowl for three seasons.

Tougher Seat Belt Enforcement Underway

Police will be cracking down on safety belt violations this summer. Buckling down with the "Blitz" is a national campaign sponsored by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration with a goal of achieving 70% safety belt and child restraints usage by 1992.

"Up until now we've stressed education about the importance of using safety belts," said Lt. Mueller, commander of the Houghton Lake State Police Post. "Beginning May 20 we will be increasing our law enforcement effort." He said this will include both verbal warnings and the issuance of citations. Citations can cost $50 or more in fines and court costs.

Michigan Public Act 90 of 1990, which took effect April 1, 1991, requires that "children four years of age or more but less than 16 years of age must be in a properly adjusted and fastened safety belt" whenever the vehicle is moving regardless of whether they are riding in the front or rear seats of the vehicle.

Michigan's safety belt and child car seat laws require children from birth to four years of age riding in the front seat be in a child car seat. Front seat passengers four years and older must be in a safety belt.

Rear seat passengers from birth to four years of age must also be in a child car seat. Children four to 16 years of age must be in a safety belt. It is not mandatory that passengers 16 years and older use a safety belt when riding in the rear seat.

The driver of the vehicle is responsible to see that the Michigan Safety Belt and Child Car Seat laws are adhered to or is subject to receiving a citation. Drivers and passengers 16 years and older not wearing seat belts while riding in the front seat of a vehicle can each be cited for non-compliance with the safety belt law.

Lt. Mueller said recent studies show that using lap and shoulder safety belts is 40-50% effective in reducing deaths from automobile accidents. He said they are 44-55% effective in preventing serious injuries. In a 1989 survey, of 1,287 persons killed, 950 were not wearing safety belts.

The survey also showed that 49.6 % of Michigan drivers use their safety belts. This is up from 15% in 1965, but Lt. Mueller said Michigan's goal was to be at 70% by 1990.

"We didn't make that goal," he said. "Now we're shooting for 70% by 1992."

In Crawford County, the decision whether or not to give a citation for safety belt violation is left to each officer.

Crawford County Sheriff Dept. Sgt. Tim Coe said ten years ago he was only a "so-so" believer in safety belts, but that today he is 100% convinced that safety belts save lives.

"Study after study has proven they save lives," he said, "and I've seen them work time and time again." He said the cases where people have been killed because safety belts were used are rare compared to the lives they save.

Sgt. Coe said he usually issues verbal warnings unless it is a repeat offense or if a child is involved.

Michigan law does not allow law enforcement officers to stop a vehicle for safety belt violations alone, except if it involves an unrestrained child under four years of age and Lt. Mueller said more and more police are going to be citing adults for unrestrained children riding in their vehicles.

"If the adult in the vehicle isn't going to protect the child, then we have to," said Sgt. Coe.

Ross, Branch Earn Honors

Karen Ross and Jennifer Branch, both from Grayling, were named to the Central Michigan University honors list for the spring semester. Ross earned straight "A's" and Branch was in the top ten percent of her class. They are both in their senior year.

cers' Club. When the club said it was not interested, it was offered to the GRA.

"We didn't want to see the community lose the only swimming pool available in the county where kids could take swimming lessons," said Wieland. "Lakes are great to swim in, but it's hard to learn to swim in them."

Wieland said GRA was told it would take at least $5,000 to get the pool ready for use and that the DMA is requiring that they keep it insured for $5,000,000.

Pool skiing conditions last winter has left Hanson Hills strapped financially. Consequently, Wieland said the GRA is going to ask local civic organizations for donations to help defer operational and insurance expenses. Wieland said they will probably charge a small user fee to help cover some of these expenses.

"How many communities have a park and recreation system that offers both a ski park and community swimming pool?" asked GRA park director Dan Wyers during a later interview. "This pool will be an asset to everyone in the community and there shouldn't be anymore children on waiting lists who want to learn to swim." Wyers said eventually the GRA would like to be able to use the Pine Knoll property for a day park where parents can bring their children for the day for structured, supervised activities.

GRA is meeting with the DMA on June 27 to work out the details of a lease for the additional 30 to 40 acres of Pine Knoll property. Wyers said he is confident the lease will be for at least as long as GRA's current 16-year lease for Hanson Hills.

"The DMA is in total support of what the GRA is trying to do for Crawford County," he said. "The GRA was formed to enhance park and recreational opportunities in Crawford County and the addition of this pool will give kids another place to go during the summer months."

On June 14, the DNR will be at Hanson Hills inspecting the facility's eligibility for a $366,000 Quality of Life Bond application submitted by GRA.

"I believe this is a positive sign," said Wyers. "Last year our application was turned down flat." Wyers said he is hopeful the inspection is an indication that Hanson Hills will be on the receiving end when the state approves this year's grants.

RAYBURN PROPERTY
Commissioner Robert Smock reported that the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has torn down part of the cyclone fence surrounding the Rayburn Property and bulldozed in the swimming pool.

The DNR bought the property last November for $1,250,000 from Gene Kraus, an Oak Park investor.

Concern over rumors that the DNR intended to tear down the buildings on the property prompted Grayling Township and the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce to contact DNR region II deputy director John MacGregor who is in charge of formulating utilization plans for the future use of the property. A Grayling Township resolution passed in April requested that the DNR refrain from demolishing the Rayburn lodge for one year to allow interested persons and organizations time to pursue possible alternative uses for the two-story structure. MacGregor assured both groups that the DNR had no immediate plans for demolition of the buildings on the property.

Smock said he had been out to the Rayburn property, which is located on the AuSable River, and was disappointed to see that the lawns had not been maintained and that a window in one of the lodge's doors has already been broken. Smock said it appears the window was broken to allow access to the lodge. He said the overgrown lawns are a red flag to every canoeist that paddles by the lodge, informing them that the building is deserted and invites vandalism. He questioned whether filling the pool was an isolated act or the beginning of the demolition process.

He asked the board to allow him to contact the DNR for their permission to take the Grayling Fish Hatchery crew out and mow the lawns. The board approved the action.

"I'd like to take this one step further," said Commissioner Dennis Long, "and request that, at the earliest possible date, this board be allowed to hold a regular meeting at the lodge and invite everyone in the community to come out and see the estate as it looks today."

"I'm afraid it's the state's intention to let the property run down and then tear it down because it's junk," said Long.

The board agreed to request permission from the DNR to meet at the facility in July and to have Smock contact Senator John Pridnia to see if the senator can expedite their request.

AMBULANCE RADIOS
The board voted to pay half the cost for new radios in both North Flight EMS ambulances. Initially they will be purchasing one radio. When the new ambulance arrives to replace the ambulance totalled in an accident last winter, a second radio will be purchased. County cost for both radios will be about $3,000. These radios are necessary to upgrade the ambulance service from basic life support to limited life support.

The board also took action to pay two full-time Crawford County Ambulance Corps EMTs all their accumulated vacation pay and half pay for their sick days. Part-time employees will be paid 100% of all accumulated vacation days, but nothing for their sick leave, as per other county employee contracts.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

By Wendell Hoover Hartwick Pines Interpreter

If you have been in the woods lately, at least two things should be very apparent, and depending upon the location a third thing may be very apparent. First, the mosquitos are numerous and very aggressive as you well know. Many people do not realize that the mosquito egg, laid during the last two or three dry years, are and will be hatching. This wet spring has provided the conditions the mosquitos needed to really make their presence felt.

The second obvious thing is the different species of flowers in bloom. Star Flower, Fringed Polygala, and Canada or Blue Bead Lily are in bloom now and I would wager that in some places the Mocassin Flower is in bloom also. There are some good flower books on the market and if you are interested, the Friends Group bookstore has at least three in stock.

For better or worse and I suspect worse, the Gypsy moth worms are making an impact on our forests and us as well. From the looks of all the information available, things will get a lot worse before it even starts to get better, but in the meantime those trying to come up with control measures are still working on the problem. In some areas, spraying with the Bacillus Thuricide has really made things tolerable.

All Outdoors

By Scott Rasmusson

They're here! It's that time of year again when trout fishermen lose sleep, abandon family and work. All for the sake of an insect. Not just any insect, but the biggie of Michigan hatches; the Giant Michigan Mayfly.

This hatch has many other names, such as the Hex, fishfly, and the caddis hatch among old timers. This last name is a real misnomer, since the insect is a mayfly and not a caddis.

The hatch usually starts in mid-June, but this year due to warm weather, it has started about a week ago. But last week's cooler nights have helped slow down this hatch to almost its normal time.

As of this writing, the Hex has been coming off between town and Burton's Landing, moving further downstream every night. The Manistee is still behind the AuSable, as the Hex hatch starts downstream and works upstream. The North Branch doesn't receive much of a Hex hatch due to its make up. The South Branch is just starting to show Hex's even with the high water.

It should be a good week to go out and chase the Hex. But remember to be careful out there at night as wading the most familiar stretches of river will seem difficult.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

To My Dad

Dear Dad, though you've been gone these many years
I still find you close at hand
You are always close in memory
Of the days you walked this land

For you were the giant of my day
The man who could do anything
To me you had all the attributes
A man needed to be a king

You had the wisdom of King Solomon
I still discover it more each day
When I recall the advice you gave me
Is still right in every way

Whether it's the best way to track a deer
Or how to conduct my life
I find if I follow the way you taught
I avoid a lot of strain and strife

It seems that every day I call on you
When I have a big problem to solve
Then I remember how you would handle it
Then my problem just seems to dissolve

Oh, those days we had together
Still shine so brightly in memory
I just had to remember days gone by
And you are there to talk to me

I hope you and mom are there waiting
In the dear Lord's promised land above
And until the day when I can join you
I'll remember you both with love

Grand Rapids Baptist College and Seminary.

The community is cordially invited to attend this special time in the course of this relatively new church in the Grayling Area.

Church Morality on Sex

Liberal mainline denominations are entering an emotional controversy over sexual morality. Currently the Presbyterians are wrestling with it. The Episcopal General Convention in Phoenix, Ariz., in July will deal with it. The United Methodists will deal with it again at their General Conference in Louisville, KY, in 1992. Martin Marty, senior editor of the liberal Christian Century magazine has said of the Presbyterian report by a Special Committee on Human Sexuality, "But this document doesn't do any serious interpreting of the Bible or church traditions. It just pushes past interpretations aside and substitutes a bunch of norms from the early 1990s."

Just as the liberal theologians declared "God is Dead" in the 1960s. Even so, today, they are declaring the Bible morality on sex as dead. The 200-page report said concerning the Bible, "While affirming . . . careful and prayerful study of Scripture, we also acknowledge that there is no single, consistent biblical ethic of sexuality. Diversity, not uniformity, is the character of the biblical witness." You see, they have interpreted the Bible in light of situational ethics and have declared that all sex is good if "justice-love" dominates the relationship. They are attempting to render the Bible a dead book concerning any absolute standard of morality.

These liberals are now attacking as wrong, those who believe in the Bible. They have said, "It is wrong to condemn nonmarital activity as unacceptable . . ." "The moral norm for Christians ought not to be marriage but rather justice-love." Concerning homosexuality they brand the heterosexuals as wrong saying, "The fundamental moral problem is not gay men and lesbians but rather heterosexualism, the oppression of this sexual minority by the privileged majority. All persons . . . have a moral right to experience justice-love in their lives and to be sexual persons." I am embarrassed to even repeat what they wrote about many other areas of sexual expression.

God and His Holy Scriptures are not dead, nor hard to understand: "Thou shalt not commit adultery." (Exo. 20:14). "There shall be no whore of the daughters of Israel nor a sodomite of the sons of Israel." (Deut. 23:17). "Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind . . . shall inherit the kingdom of God." (1 Cor. 6:9, 10). " . . . Whoremongers and adulterers God will judge." (Heb. 13:4b). "But . . . whoremongers . . . shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death." (Rev. 21:8). Who you believe is your choice, but God will be your final judge. " . . . Yea, let God be true, but every man a liar. . . ." (Rom. 3:4). Pastor "B"

Metamorphosis

"Mom, there's an ol' creepy, crawly caterpillar on our porch!"

Mom knows that when the metamorphosis is complete, that "creepy, crawly, caterpillar" will have evolved into a beautiful butterfly, bursting with brilliant colors, no longer crawling, but sailing through the air on gossamer wings.

At times we may feel like that caterpillar . . . moving slowly, with doubtful direction. Yet, if God has given such caring consideration to the caterpillar; will He not also care for us and guide us?

Have faith in God. Be patient. Allow Him to work in your life as He wills. Though life on earth might, at times, not be as beautiful as we would hope, our lives will glow with serenity and faith; and eternal life with our Heavenly Father will be even more beautiful than we can possibly imagine.

This week, worship our Creator as you come with humility, praise, and prayer. Though our metamorphosis is not yet complete, our Maker has promised that we can become a beautiful "new creature" as we finally emerge an eternal child of God.

Par For The Course

In regular play on Wednesday morning, June 5, the winners in Flight A were: Joan Powell and Corrine Smith who tied; Flight B, 1st, Shirley Parker, 2nd, Elsie Jansen; Flight C, 1st, Phyllis Scherer, 2nd, Evelyn Sager; Flight D, 1st, Thelma Madsen, 2nd, Sue Hees.
A lunch of tacos, vegetables, and fruit was served by the club staff.
The Grayling Country Club has a new roadside sign that was erected last week and work is progressing on the new stonework at the entrance. It's a nice improvement to the entrance and when the business loop roadwork is finished should be very visible to the traveling public.

The Hookers and Slicers met for their second week last Thursday. The first week was Scrambles and regular team play started last week. There are 36 couples signed up. They are having a shotgun start this year and everyone enjoys a dinner put on by the club staff after the afternoon of golf.
On Monday, June 10, golf was cancelled because of rain, yet approximately 30 women stayed and enjoyed a delicious dinner of taco salad, fruit plate, and frozen yogurt, served by the Grayling Country Club.

Shelley Parkinson won the door prize donated by Irene Peterson. It was a beautiful hand made cloth basket.

Summer Programs Starting Soon

The Grayling Recreation Authority is now taking registration for girls and boys basketball camps, tennis classes, summer vacation playground program, and an outdoor survival skills class.
For more information on registering contact the Grayling Recreation Authority office at 348-9266.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE--State Senator John Pridnia will address critical topics for Grayling businesses at a Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce "Eggs and Issues" program from 8 to 9:30 a.m. at the Grayling Holiday Inn on Friday, June 21. Call in reservations by Wednesday, June 19, at 348-2921.

108TH BIRTHDAY--Flora Curren celebrated her 108th birthday June 4 with family and friends at her residence at Mercy Manor in Grayling. Flora has been a resident there for the past three years. She says there is longevity in her family, although she has outlived her brothers and sisters. Flora was thrilled when Willard Scott of NBC's "Today" morning program announced her birthday over national television. She was born June 4, 1883.

Wyss Selected For HOBY Youth Leadership Workshop

Grayling High School sophomore Josh Wyss was chosen as his school's 1991 ambassador to the annual Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation (HOBY), held May 17-19, at Central Michigan University.

The three-day workshop brought together leaders in business, government, education, various professions and the community with leaders of tomorrow to explore the topic of "America's Incentive System." A panel format allowed for questions and answer periods and one-to-one idea exchanges.

HOBY is a non-profit organization run by thousands of volunteers and a small paid staff at the national office. All speakers contribute their services or are sponsored by donations.

There is no cost to students attending or to their high school. At GHS, participation in HOBY is funded by the local Kiwanis Club.

Actor Hugh O'Brian, best known for his television role as Wyatt Earp, founded the association after visiting Dr. Albert Schweitzer in Africa. Schweitzer told O'Brian that the most important ingredient of education is to teach young people to think for themselves.

HOBY has conducted seminars for sophomores for over 30 years and it works intimately with the private sector and civic groups throughout the country to involve as many young people as possible.

The Michigan Leadership Seminars began in 1978, and have grown from 30 to over 500 students. Currently, there are three state seminars, each of which offers a week-end of leadership training.

Josh said, "HOBY was one of the greatest experiences of my life. I learned the true meaning of comradeship and honesty. HOBY made me a better person."

Read A Book Earn A Sundae

The Grayling Dairy Queen and the Crawford County Library invite all Middle School students entering grades 5-8 in the fall to participate in the summer reading incentive program June 17 through August 9.

Books for reading awards will be shelved in the Weyerhaeuser Room at the library. Books must be read from this collection.

Forms will be available at the library beginning June 17th. They must be completed by the student and signed by a parent. A coupon for a free sundae will be awarded when the form is submitted to the circulation desk at the library.

You may read as many books as you like between June 17 and August 9 and earn a sundae for each book you read.

Cornell Offers Bottom-Line Savings, Best Service For Commercial Coverage

Area businesses can profit from the recent upgrading of Cornell Insurance Agency's computer system.

Every business has its own special insurance needs and Cornell's state-of-the-art independent insurance service can find the best insurance carrier and policy for each business.

Not only can this result in considerable savings to a business, but it also means giving the best service and value. The upgrading of the computer system gives Cornell Insurance agents quick access to ratings, replacement cost factors, and other pertinent information. Insurance questions that used to take hours to answer can now be answered in minutes.

"Our agents now have the ability to display a customer's file on the computer screen as they are talking to them," points out Cornell Insurance president Paul Thomson. "If a customer has lost a certificate of insurance, we can verify their coverage, print one very quickly, and get it out to them."

Important information such as replacement costs can be kept up to date with the computer system. Before Cornell went with computers, agents had to use an applied factor to figure replacement costs. Each insurance carrier sent out small pamphlets containing these factors on an annual basis. With the computer system, these factors are received monthly and in greater detail. Cornell agents are now also able to communicate directly with the different insurance carriers, resulting in speedier service to their customers.

Cornell's staff includes George Stancil, vice-president; Ron Thomson and Doranda Thompson, customer service representative; Jim Ritter, life and health insurance; Joyce Fox, claims; Ann Hanson, accounting; and Linda Northrop, computer supervisor. All work at the Cornell Insurance Agency located at the corner of the I-75 Business Loop and M-72 East.

"We do know our business here," said Thomson. "It seems like someone is always going to a seminar or school to learn more. We want to stay current and be a state-of-the-art independent insurance service."

Attention Grayling High School Honor Roll Students!

Today's students are our citizens of tomorrow. We at Grayling State Bank realize the time and work our youth invests in attaining their goals.

To recognize their achievements, the Grayling State Bank is pleased to introduce

The GSB Honor Account

For Every semester a Grayling High School student achieves the "Honor Roll" status, Grayling State Bank will deposit $5.00 into a new or existing savings account at our financial institution. We ask that the honor roll student present their current semester report card at our main office for eligibility.
